JOHN HUTTON

Yale, Mich.

Local and Otherwise.

Thrift week is dated for Jan. 17 to 23.

C. T. Peacock was in Port Huron Tuesday on business.

Sam Ludington, of the U. of M., is spending the holiday vacation at home.

Mildred Patterson is home from Ypsilanti visiting her parents near Brockway.

Sleighting and sleighbells help to make Christmas what it should be—a time of joy and gladness.

The N. B. Herbert home will be the scene of the annual Christmas family gathering over the week-end.

The teachers in Yale schools are planning on the vacation at their various homes. A merry Christmas to them all.

Thos. Shutt, of Capac, was in Yale Tuesday attending the funeral of his old friend and former neighbor, Geo. N. Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. S. Brown and son Colin expect to leave Saturday for Battle Creek where they will spend Christmas week with their son Jas. L. and family.

Roger Gorton, until six months ago publisher of the Lexington News, has leased the office of the Carson City paper, and will start publishing it Jan. 1. Mrs. Gorton and family will remain in Lexington until the close of school in June, when they expect to move to Carson City.

As previously announced in the columns of the Expositor, the meeting to adopt by-laws and set a date for the next banquet of the Board of Commerce for the City of Yale was held at the Council Room Friday evening last. A goodly number was present. The by-laws were adopted and the banquet was decided on for Monday, Jan. 15, 1923. The regular meeting will be the third Monday evening of each month.

All of our young people attending the various colleges receive a certain portion of publicity by their attainments along the several lines. A year ago Donald McIntyre was travelling with the Michigan Opera troupe as a chorus girl. This year Max, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Fead, has that distinction and we understand, is making good as a saucy, piquant young brunette beauty. In the photo-gravure section of last Sunday's Free Press, a certain photograph of a chorus girl in the Michigan Opera of 1922, playing "In and Out," is marked Maxwell Fead. If it doesn't exactly resemble Max as we know him, that's not his fault. We know he's there anyway. The company will show in Port Huron at the Majestic theatre on Dec. 29th.

Skating on Mill Creek has been fairly good during the past week. The young folks are enjoying the sport very much.

Only two more shopping days before Christmas. Our merchants report holiday trade as being the best for several years.

Yale friends are extremely sorry to hear of the serious illness of Mrs. Chas. Ponsford, of Northville, formerly a resident of Yale.

Be at Harding & Hallman's Drug Store Friday night at 8:00 o'clock and see who gets the big doll. You may have the lucky ticket.

Mrs. Walter Allanbrook and two children, of Boston, Mass., are visiting relatives in Yale. Mrs. Allanbrook will be remembered as Ella Foster. Mr. Allanbrook was in Yale only over the week-end.

Don't forget to patronize the dance next week in the Auditorium to be given under the auspices of a group of Yale ladies for the benefit of the athletic association.

A dance will be given at the Auditorium on Wednesday evening, Dec. 27th, by a committee of ladies for the benefit of the athletic association. Music by Finzel's four-piece orchestra, Bill $1.50. Spectators, 50c. Attend and help the boys.

The new dwelling houses being built by Dolph Andrae, Henry Ohmer and Otto Griffith are nearing completion. When finished all will add considerable beauty to our little city. The whole community feels proud of Yale's handsome and comfortable homes.

On Monday, Dec. 18th, Mrs. Sophia Rose, on her 79th birthday, was pleasantly surprised by a number of her friends at 5:00 o'clock. A pot-luck supper was served, after a pleasant visit and several selections were played on the Victrola. On her friends' departure they wished her many returns of a happy birthday.

Andrew Curry, one of our aged pioneers and respected citizens, suffered a paralytic stroke on Wednesday of last week. By the end of the week he was reported as much improved. Immediately several of his sons returned home to help care for him—Bert Curry, of Allenton; Gorman and Ted, Detroit; Fred, George and Will, Flint; Ross, Owosso; and Andy, Port Huron—Capac Journal.

The mercury has been hovering around zero during the past few days—the coldest it has been so far this winter. Fuel being scarce and held at a high price, a great many people will suffer.

Justin Cavanagh and Mrs. Belle Brown have returned from their visit to Madison, Wis. They found their brother, Wesley Cavanagh going well, in good health and much pleased to see them.

Mrs. V. A. Lacy left Saturday night for Chicago, and will join Mrs. Allen, of Detroit, and leave there on Wednesday for Florence, Ill., to spend the holidays with Mrs. Starr, of Toledo, Ohio.
